

Invitation

“Open Innovation World Café - Climate Innovation and Bioeconomy“

Impact Hub Budapest

*Budapest Ferenciek tere 2. 1st floor
12th April 2019, 08:45 -12:30*

Climate change is a hot issue in all around the world. Urban communities are major actors, as cities consume 75 per cent of the world’s natural resources, produce half the planet’s waste and generate 60-80 per cent of global greenhouse gas emissions. Bioeconomy has strong potentials to support climate innovation and to offer solutions for the problems of the cities. Discussion between urban communities, researchers and bioeconomy actors is crucial to understand each other and to find action points together.

In this context, the ZSI – Centre for Social Innovation \(Vienna\) in cooperation with the Bay Zoltán Nonprofit Ltd. is organising a workshop “Open Innovation World Café – Climate Innovation and Bioeconomy” to strengthen links with civil society in order to contribute to better acceptance of scientific results and commercial success of innovative ideas and products. The further aim of the event is ” to help build new links and strengthen existing ones between regional initiatives and the Danube Region innovation systems to create synergies and improve the impact.

The event will be held in Budapest, on 12th April 2019 in the context of the Made in Danube project funded by the Interreg Danube Transnational Programme. Please find attached a draft agenda.

Please note that event will be held in Hungarian (some sections will be also in English). For practical arrangements, please register on this link and do not hesitate to contact Ms Eszter Lukacs at eszter.lukacs@bayzoltan.hu for any further information. The deadline for registrations is 10/04/2019.

We are looking forward to your participation and presence in Budapest!
