Svilarska street

A historical one-way street, mostly used for parking or as a transit zone to access other streets in the city. Svilaraska is home mostly to residents as well as some small and medium sized enterprises. Mostly, it offers nothing to passersby, contributing to a feeling of being left behind in the urban space. The street holds special characteristics, such as the Koprivnica Synagogue and a public music school.

One of the special aspects of the revitalization process is the combination of stakeholders, citizens, and involved municipal administrators. The meetings in which revitalization plans were discussed were open to individuals, organisations and institutions. By using a bottom-up approach, the development of the street will address local needs. Having the opportunity to contribute to the ideas and planning of the space makes the use of it more attractive to the locals.
