

Attachment to the D.T1.1.3 deliverable – Workshop for policy makers and other stakeholders

During the Industry forum Ljubljana 2022, we have presented the strategies »Sustainable touristic value from the digitization of archaeological heritage: Digital approaches to the promotion of archaeological landscapes in the Danube region« on a special workshop in the first part of the event. Aimed mostly at museum curators (there were 40 representatives of the majority of state-funded Slovenian museums, altogether 19 museums) and also developers of digital presentations of cultural heritage, we outlined the content of the strategies, and showed some basic examples of the workflow which the strategies propose. The workflow includes a scientific (archaeological), technical and social component, which are integrated in a workflow so all the components are used to the maximum. After the workshop, in the second part of the Industry forum, the participants had the opportunity to view the visualizations, made in the scope of the project. These visualizations were made with the proposed workflow asking them, so they could see first-hand the results of the presented workflow.

At the end of the workshop, we distributed copies of the strategies to interested parties.

A photograph from the presentation of the strategies in the first part of the Industry Forum Ljubljana 2022.

A photograph of the printed copies of the Strategies which we distributed among the participants.